Sale total: £23,522

Another fully packed saleroom for the start of the final catalogued auction of the year, and busy/ full right up to the end ..... and what a sale this turned out to be!

Amidst doom & gloom from within the trade and most specialist hobby factions this assembled presentation brought back a little bit of the good old days.

There were a few bargains scattered throughout, but on the whole most of the performances were reasonable to sound - with a spattering of exceptional realizations for the highly desirable rarities.

Most bouyant areas were undoubtedly the cream pots (the Irish pots continue to be very highly contested), and the Cornishware. Both areas here performed very well with excellent and varied groupings on offer, almost all without reserve - the MARKET itself determining their values on the day.

Collectors, after a very difficult and trying year can breathe a sigh of relief as this sale appeared to leave us with hope and expectation for the New Year, and beyond .....

Next year the Post Office propose doubling cost of A4 size mail. BBR is considering reducing some, or all, catalogues to A5 (half current size) and not illustrating every lot in full colour. T. G. Green, for example, does not always need to be in colour (selecting possibly just the better items), and generally monochrome pot lids too can do without colour as well. Future sale results will go online AND appear in back of follow-on cat's. Additional suggestions so far (from customers): a) do away with catalogues altogether and put them in pdf format on our website (not a preferred option of ours). b) put 2 sales back to back - making one big(ger) catalogue. c) A N other?

Your thoughts greatly appreciated, but be quick - we must decide before Dec. 12th.
